

Allergy statement

Scoop and Scales make every effort to ensure that the risk of cross-contamination is reduced. However, due to the nature of the operation, we cannot guarantee that products will not contain traces of potential allergens.

Our suppliers state that their products are handled in an environment where allergens are present. Potential allergens may come in contact with products in transport, packing or production. It cannot be guaranteed that products are allergen or gluten free.

If you have an allergy or are buying for someone who has an allergy, or you have a query about allergens, please ask before you buy. If in doubt, we would ask that you do not buy from us.

Donated jars

Due to possibility of trace amounts of previously stored foods remaining after washing, we do not recommend that customers with allergies and intolerances use donated jars.